

Job Description

Title:	Marketing & Events Executive
Directorate:	Communications & Corporate Affairs
Responsible to:	Senior Brand & Digital Manager
Location:	London (hybrid working – 3 days in the office)

OVERALL PURPOSE

To promote and deliver a programme of events which increases member and non-member engagement and ensures members gain maximum value from their membership. To organise events ensuring cross-departmental co-ordination. To promote and manage events relating to national profile raising (most notably The Institute's Annual Conference and Awards) and support a programme of virtual and physical events - such as research launches, Head to Head webinars, training courses, Member Experience Days, TAN & Regional Meetings, National Customer Service Week, and The Institute's AGM.

To support, where required, the successful ongoing delivery of Portis - The Service Innovation Hub, providing operational and marketing support across each cohort in conjunction with the lead contact. This includes managing logistics and liaison for in-person Service Labs, coordinating Mini-MBA pre-cohort communications, supporting relationship management and enrolment tracking, and maintaining effective operation of the virtual learning environment (VLE) - including content management, updates and learner support.

To act as the lead on the internal communications activity, working closely with the internal communications and HR team. It is a varied role which touches every part of the business, involving event planning & management, digital marketing and communications support.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

1. Events planning & delivery

- Plan and implement national profile-raising events to support member engagement - including the flagship Annual Conference & Awards, AGM, Head to Head interviews, research launches, National Customer Service Week and member meetings.
- Co-ordinate pan-Institute events and maintain an overview of departmental plans to ensure alignment, effective planning and resource management.
- Manage relationships and commercial contracts with suppliers to ensure events meet marketing, operational and commercial objectives.
- Plan and implement National Customer Service Week, providing collateral and resources for colleagues to share with members and supporting activity across the business.
- Maintain a speaker database to support the identification and selection of appropriate speakers for Institute events.
- Work with colleagues to develop and maintain business processes relating to events, promoting efficient, consistent and effective ways of working.

2. Event marketing, communications & brand delivery

- Work closely with the Senior Brand & Digital Manager to ensure online and offline communications relating to events are fully integrated, consistent and coherent, and that offline activity drives relevant traffic to The Institute's website.
- Manage and update the events and bookings section of the website, ensuring key events are promoted across the business and membership in a planned and timely manner.
- Create and update brand materials for presentations, collateral, exhibition stands and other Institute literature, ensuring high-quality outputs that comply with The Institute's brand identity and meet deadlines.
- Create and maintain digital communication templates to ensure event invitations, reminders and follow-up communications are consistent in language, tone and imagery.
- Create, audit and maintain communications and event content on the Institute's intranet to maximise awareness and attendance at events.

3. Event performance, reporting & continuous improvement

- Measure and assess event ROI through post-event surveys, feedback analysis and reporting, enabling The Institute to respond to customer feedback and continually improve the customer experience.
- Create and maintain target attendee lists, working with colleagues to ensure events are appropriately targeted and maximise member engagement.
- Create, report on and be accountable for key metrics relating to communications and sales activity associated with customer events, monitoring performance against success criteria and identifying opportunities for improvement.

4. Portis: The Service Innovation Hub & Mini MBA in Strategic Service Leadership - Delivery

- Providing marketing and logistical support to Portis cohorts, ensuring a smooth participant journey from enrolment through to completion.
- Support coordination of Portis pre-cohort communications - including onboarding information, key dates, expectations and engagement activities.
- Assist with Portis cohort administration where required - including relationship management with participants, enrolment tracking, attendance monitoring and ongoing communications.
- Coordinate logistics and liaison for in-person Service Labs, working with facilitators, venues and participants to ensure effective delivery.
- Support the ongoing operation and management of the Portis virtual learning environment (VLE) - including uploading and maintaining content, managing resources and ensuring participants have access to all relevant materials.
- Work closely with internal teams and facilitators to identify improvements to the Portis experience and support continuous development of the programme.

5. Internal Communications & Brand Management

- Work with HR and the internal communications working group to lead internal communications activity.
- Manage the monthly internal newsletter, ensuring content is timely, engaging and aligned with organisational priorities.
- Act as an internal brand guardian, ensuring consistent application of The Institute's brand identity across internal communications and materials.
